

Specification of subjects in doctoral studies

Subject code: ДМ1.3111А
Study program: Forestry – Submodule 1.3. Forest economics and organization
Type and level of studies: Doctoral studies
Subject name: Entrepreneurship and project management in forestry
Teacher (s): Dragan S. Nonić DSc; Jelena Nedeljković, PhD
Associates:
Subject type: elective
ECTS: 8
Condition: Enrollment in PhD studies in the field of "Forestry - Forest Policy, Economics and passed exams in all compulsory subjects.
Subject aim: It provides students with the necessary organizational, entrepreneurial and other professional forestry knowledge, such as: entrepreneurial business in forestry, implementation of business policy in forestry and forestry management, and enables them to develop skills for the application of the acquired knowledge in a real environment.
Subject outcomes: Developing the skills and skills of students for creative and critical thinking in making conclusions, defining decisions and solving problems in the field of entrepreneurial business within the forestry profession and managing and leading professional projects in forestry. Students will be able to thoroughly understand the entrepreneurial process, as well as the process managed by the projects. On the basis of theoretical, methodological and practical knowledge acquired, students will be able, independently or as part of the team, to solve complex problems in the field of entrepreneurship in the forestry sector, or to apply methods and techniques of project management.