

Specification of subjects in Master's degree studies studies

Subject code: MIII3105/B
Study program: Forestry
Type and level of studies: Master's degree study program
Subject name: Production programs in the aim of forest management optimization
Teacher (s): Branko Stajić, DSc
Subject type: elective
ECTS: 6
Condition: no condition
Subject aim: Knowledge about the production programs for the most important tree species and the ways of their application are presented in order to optimize the forest management process. The relationship and harmonization of the ecological and production function of the forest is considered from the aspect of production.
Subject outcomes: The ability to create and apply production programs and harmonize production and other forest functions.