

Specification of subjects in Master's degree studies studies

Subject code: MIII3101
Study program: Forestry
Type and level of studies: Master's degree study program
Subject name: Research methods and techniques in forest management planning
Teacher (s): Damjan S. Pantić, DSc
Subject type: compulsory
ECTS: 3
Condition: no
Subject aim: Acquiring knowledge related to different methods and techniques of scientific research in forestry, which primarily refers to: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- the basic settings of scientific research- planning and performing experiments- processing, presentation and exploitation of research results
Subject outcomes: Knowledge necessary for carrying highly specific professional and specific research activities in the field of forestry - the narrow scientific field - Forest management planning.