

Specification of subjects in Master's degree studies studies

Subject code: MIII61105/6
Study program: Forestry
Type and level of studies: Master's degree studies
Subject name: Typological mapping and forest types in Serbia
Teacher (s): Rajko Milošević, DSc;
Subject type: elective
ECTS: 6
Condition:
Subject aim: Mastering the methodology of typological mapping of forests and characteristics (bioecological, coenological, spatial, management etc.) of the most significant (from the standpoint of forest management and practical application of typological classification) and the most common types of forests, their typological study and defining, and both horizontal and vertical natural zones.
Subject outcomes: Training students for practical work in terms of using information about the types of forests in digital form and using of such a dynamic information system in the process of development of plans in forestry as well as spatial and especially regional planning.