

Forestry and Natural Resources Management

Interdisciplinary master programme

PROGRAMME HIGHLIGHTS

- collaborative research across disciplines
- combines natural science, engineering, and a social science
- work in small groups
- comprised of compulsory and elective courses
- professional practice offered

Topics

- Applied forestry
- Climate change
- Protected areas
- Soil science
- Wood science
- Bioeconomy and more

AT A GLANCE

Location: Belgrade, Serbia

Start date: October

Duration: 2 years

Language: English

Mode of study: Full time

ECTS credits: 120

Field work: Belgrade and around Serbia

Accreditation certificate: NEAQA

Number of students: 10

About University of Belgrade - Faculty of Forestry

- Higher education and scientific research institution with a 100 year-long tradition
- Modern teaching and scientific facilities
- Center for Teaching and Scientific Facilities around 6,000 ha of forests at 2 locations: East and Central Serbia
- Management of 3 protected areas
- More than 10,000 students have graduated from the Faculty so far