

Specification of subjects in Master's degree studies studies

Subject code: MIII511104/a
Study program: Forestry- Module Protection of forests and ornamental plants
Type and level of studies: Master's degree studies
Subject name: Forest entomology 2
Teacher (s): Čedomir Marković, DSc; Jovan Dobrosavljević
Subject type: elective
ECTS: 6
Condition: no
Subject aim: Teaching in the Forest Entomology 2 course aims to introduce forestry professionals with harmful forest insects, all preventive and repressive measures to combat harmful forest insects in order to effectively suppress them, while at the same time preserving the stability of forest ecosystems. In addition to harmful forest insects, forestry engineers should recognize their natural enemies in order to preserve them in the forests and help their effective activity.
Subject outcomes: Full ability of students to recognize the most important harmful forest insects and their natural enemies and recommend appropriate forest protection measures against their harmful activity.