

Specification of subjects in undergraduate studies

Study program: Forestry
Subject code: III3526
Type and level of studies: undergraduate studies
Subject name: Forest phytopathology
Teacher (s): Dragan M. Karadžić, DSc; Nenad Đ. Keča, DSc
Subject type: compulsory
ECTS: 7
Condition: That a student passed the Botany, Genetics and Dendrology examinations
Subject aim: Teaching from Forest Phytopathology aims to introduce students to the basic characteristics of forest diseases, biology of pathogens, methods of combating these organisms and protection of forests in order to increase the production of quality wood and preserve forest ecosystems.
Subject outcomes: Complete ability of students to recognize pathogens and recommend appropriate measures for combating parasitic diseases in forests.